

Our family has found Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law to be very effective. I cannot remember receiving a single call since the law went into effect and I signed on to have our phone included on the no call list. We have not had one meal interrupted, nor one evening with the family disturbed. We were receiving repeated calls, mostly from long distance telephone companies. We have no need for their service, nor for their attempted sales to us. When I am interested in changing, I will phone them. Otherwise, there is no need for any conversation between us.

I SEE NO ADVANTAGE TO THE CONSUMER IF YOU FEDS ARE SUCCESSFUL IN OVERTURNING THE INDIANA STATE LAW. THERE IS NO ADVANTAGE TO US TO HAVE BOILERROOM OPERATION PHONING OUR HOME SEVERAL TIMES EACH WEEK. IF YOU CAN EXPLAIN HOW WE WOULD BENEFIT FROM SUCH AN ACTION, I WOULD BE WILLING TO LISTEN, BUT PLEASE DO NOT PHONE ME WITH YOU APPEAL.
